

DAILY RECORD-UNION

MONDAY NOVEMBER 22, 1886

ADVERTISEMENT MENTION

Metropolitan Theater—Jeffreys Lewis in "Clotilde." "Law in Business Life"—Lecture to-night. A. and A. S. R.—That evening. El Dorado Lodge, 1, O. O. F.—To night. Western Branch No. 2, W. C. and W. Union. Card of thanks.

BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Holiday groceries—T. H. Cook & Co. Trustees' sale of real estate. Best House—Good values. Wanted—Dwelling and basement house. Lost—Bay mare. Wanted—Middle-aged woman. Weinstock & Lubin—Mandelkleie."

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Little George McCarty Accidentally Shot While Out Hunting.

Yesterday three little boys—Daniel Reagan, James Allen and George McCarty, went out hunting. The first named is about 16 years of age, and the other two 12 each. Daniel Reagan carried an old muzzle-loading shotgun, while the other two acted in the capacity of game-carriers. In the afternoon, while getting through a fence on the edge of the slough, near Sutterville, the cock of the gun by some means was raised. The gun exploded and the discharge hit George McCarty, who was immediately behind Regan, received the entire charge in his right arm immediately below the shoulder. When Regan saw what had been done, he fled, and nothing more was seen of him. Little Allen, who had given assistance and saw that he was losing a large quantity of blood. Although quite a small boy, he picked up the bleeding form of his brother and carried him quite a long distance, to Oak Hill, in the Sacramento Valley. The proprietor of the Oak Hall House lost no time in getting his team up and conveying the unfortunate lad to his parents, who reside at Third and T streets. The boy was in a very bad condition, and was found to have a bullet wound from slugs to the right arm. The bullet was removed, and the arm was found to be so badly mangled and shattered that amputation at the shoulder was necessary. From the loss of blood and shock sustained, the boy was in a very critical condition. His father is John McCarty, an employee in the rolling mills.

STAGE ACCIDENT.—Last Friday night, as A. Brees, a well-known mine owner and capitalist of Bath, Placer county, was going in the stage to Colfax with his wife and sister, en route to San Francisco, they met with an accident. The stage was ascending North Fork hill, and, crossing a little stream, was sent into a ravine, which caused the hind seat of the wagon, which was not properly fastened to the box, to turn backwards, and Mr. Brees and the two ladies were thrown into the road. The ladies were not seriously hurt, but he fell from his right shoulder and was picked up insensible, and had not fully recovered his faculties when the party reached Colfax. They came out to this city Saturday morning, and a physician was called, who found Brees to have his right collarbone fractured. Yesterday they were all feeling in good spirits, and resumed their trip to the Bay.

TWO MEN MADE HAPPY.—On Saturday two inmates of the State Prison were made happy by being discharged before the expiration of their terms of sentence. The Governor signed both commutations at the urgent solicitation of the State Board of Prison Directors. John Redding was granted a full pardon, and of his confinement in Solano county in February, 1884, and sentenced to five years imprisonment. The Prison Directors after careful review of the testimony, and after a full presentation of the facts, and the opinion that the act was done in self-defense, and that therefore the killing was a case of justifiable homicide. R. H. Curtis was convicted of burglary in San Joaquin county, March 1, 1884, and sentenced to six years imprisonment. His recommendation was based upon his youth and previous good character.

METROPOLITAN THEATER.—With an evening a brilliant dramatic scene will commence at the Metropolitan, made notable by the engagement of Miss Jeffrey Lewis, an emotional actress whose remarkable ability is universally conceded throughout the country, and who recently entertained at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco. She will be supported by Harry Mainhall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edmonds, Miss Anna, Miss Julia, Miss Anna, and a competent company generally. This night and to-morrow evening "Clotilde" will be given, placed upon the stage in an admirable manner.

ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY.—Last Saturday W. H. Thompson, who is employed on the Grant, came to the city and proceeded to have a lively time with the boys. In the evening, just after dark, his jubilee was brought to a sudden termination at Five Points, where he was captured and bound and robbed of what money he had left. The police were notified and arrested Thomas Murray and George Mitchell for committing the robbery, and also detailed to the police who should sit in after the same as witnesses with the boy who was in Court this morning. Thompson reports the loss of $40, but none of it was recovered.

CITY TREASURY.—The following were the receipts for the week ending November 20th: John T. Stanford, water rates, $1,027.50; N. A. Kidder, harbor dues, $17.50; E. H. McKey, State apportionment of water rates, $2,450.50; W. H. Head, Police Court, $1,000; George A. Putnam, city license, $209.76; George A. Putnam, dog licenses, $3.84; Henry L. Buckley, delinquent taxes, $1,267.88; Total receipts, $3,087.48. Total amount in City Treasury, $16,088.90.

POLICE COURT.—In the Police Court Saturday evening James F. Price, charged with battery and threats against life, was further confined until the 27th. R. W. Johnson, previously convicted of petit larceny in stealing a baby carriage, which subsequently endeavored to sell, was fined $30. The Alameda Police Court, which sat on Friday evening, with three officers, including the Warden of Chinaman's house, Friday evening, was convicted of disturbing the peace and also fined $30, with the usual alternative.

ARRESTS.—The following arrests were made Saturday and yesterday: George Leitch, by officer Farren, for being drunk; Thomas Murray and George Mitchell, by officers Sullivan and McCormick, for robbery; John Humphreys, by officer A. Alexander, for being drunk; D. W. Foy, for being drunk; Rafael Vasquez, by officers Ager and Ferrell, for disturbing the peace; Ti Yee, by officer Sullivan, for grand larceny.

COMMERCIAL.—Arrived Saturday and yesterday, steamer San Joaquin, No. 4, from San Francisco, with merchandise and barges loaded with general freight and dry-steam; steamer Sonoma, from San Francisco, with a large load of lumber for the Friend and Lambour Company. Cleared, steamer Varuna, for the upper Sacramento, with a large load of freight; steamer Sonoma, from San Francisco, light; steamer San Joaquin, No. 4, from San Francisco, with grain.

FUNERAL OF MR. REDDING.—The funeral of Sam M. Redding took place from the residence of L. Williams, Tenth and H streets, yesterday at 12:30 p. m. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. D. L. W. C. Morris. There was a very large attendance of friends, many being present from San Francisco, where the deceased had for several years past resided.

LAW IN BUSINESS LIFE.—This evening, at 8 o'clock, Hon. J. N. Young will deliver a business talk to young men only, having for his theme "Law in Business Life," at the Young Men's Christian Association's Hall, Sixth street near K. Admission free by ticket, which can be obtained by application to the Secretary.

STATE PRISON DIRECTORS.—The Board of State Prison Directors met at Folsom on Saturday, and presented the usual routine. The report of the Penological Commission to the Governor was also considered. Another meeting will be held about December 13th.

CHINAMAN DIES FOR 25 cents, at Haub's Restaurant (formerly Fisher's). Families, don't forget to send your orders early for extra mince pie and cakes for Thanksgiving.

CHICKER' S Sons and Hallett & Company piano! L. K. Hammer, No. 820 J street, sole agent.

SILVER WEDDING.

Judge and Mrs. McFarland Pleasantly and Agreeably Surprised.

On the morning of November 21, 1861, the Nevada City and Grass Valley papers among their marriage notices had the following:

Nevada City, November 20th, by the Rev. Wm. Green, Dea., T. B. McFarland to Miss Susie Brinsford.

The papers had complimentary notices of "the handsome couple," wished them "long lives and happy ones," together with all the usual "taffy" that is given when a young and popular couple gets married. Years since Judge McFarland and his family removed to this city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

Last Saturday being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, and in other words a silver wedding, some of their neighbors concluded to give the couple a genuine surprise. The fact that the Judge had been elected to the Supreme Bench, and was recently elected to the office of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of by the local press of a quarter of a century ago. Time has dealt kindly with them, and well preserved a couple as is anywhere to be found in this "glorious climate."

The Judge and Mrs. McFarland were to be found in the city, where they made many warm personal friends, have lived happy lives, and added to the happiness of those with whom they have been socially intimate. They have lost none of the good looks that was spoken of

